It can often be extremely difficult to resist temptation when it comes to some of the bolder ideas for USB packaging - particularly if your requirements are more along the lines of something a little more basic. Take into account what the real purpose of your packaging is going to be – making a rash decision to opt for something more flamboyant can have a large impact on your budget. A wide range of stylish but less ostentatious USB packaging is available – produced in a variety of designs and materials which will still be able to meet your needs. Remember – sometimes less is more.
